

GirlDreamer Guest Blogger Guidelines

Welcome to our award-winning blog! This guide will provide you with some guidance and insight on how to write a blog for GirlDreamer.

Our blog is run by us and written by you, our community.

Here at GirlDreamer, we want to platform your voice. Our widely acclaimed blog is an inclusive and safe space where we welcome you to share your thoughts, perspectives and opinions. Spotlighting you, we want to champion Women of Colour and your experiences, creating a safe and positive forum for your feelings, insights and views.

Crafted by the GirlDreamer team, but driven by you, our blog hosts an array of social, political, cultural and first-person-led discussions that encourage you to dive deeper, think openly and live your best life.

Your views. Your platform.

We accept blogs that cover topics about personal and professional experiences. There is no limit or word count, however, we ask that you keep the blog under a 5-minute read. There is also an occasional small editing process that we do to ensure a piece fits in with the GirlDreamer tone of voice.

We also pay all guest bloggers a small fee of £50 for commissioning your blog for our website.

Please note:

- We encourage guest bloggers to take some time to evaluate our Blog and conduct some site research to ensure the topic of their blog has not been covered too closely and that it is appropriate.
- We encourage you to choose a topic that interests you! We want to hear and platform your unique perspectives and feelings.
- Your blog can share thoughtful and thought-provoking information on a topic, your opinions and connections to a publication or an initiative.
- You can share personal reflections, memories, anecdotes and stories that you are comfortable with.
- Your blog should engage readers and encourage discussion.

- We ask that you only submit original concepts to us that have not been published elsewhere.
- Your contributions are valuable, and we acknowledge that. Your name will be listed as the author of the blog post. Additionally, we will tag you in social media posts related to your blog and include your social media handles for readers to follow your work. Therefore, please share your credentials with us.
- After your blog has been approved and published, please send your invoice for payment to finance@girdreamer.co.uk
